

Dear Friends,

I hope you are all enjoying the beautiful weather? These glorious June days are to be treasured, aren't they! I hope like me, you have been delighting in being in your garden, going for walks and seeing the wonderful flora and fauna all around us.

As many of you will know, we don't have a dog, but always enjoy a walk with other people's dogs. Last week we had a house guest for an afternoon. A beautiful Border Collie by the name of Bella.

Bella belongs to one of our Church Organists, Keith Bennett and his wife Pam, who left us a list of very useful instructions regarding Bella's care, including what Bella likes to do on a walk. She enjoys exercise having her rope toy thrown repeatedly. Pam explained that once Bella has retrieved the rope toy she will then leave it somewhere, and position herself at a distance from the rope, with her nose pointing towards it, as a clue to where we will find it. We were thankful for this information, as otherwise we would have returned without the toy, lost in the long grass! Bella's archetypal sheep dog behaviour was exactly as Pam had described. Her behaviour is set in her breed DNA.

Richard had a similar experience this week, doing his regular local butterfly survey walk around Haugh, on the edge of Winsley. He thought he had identified a Large Skipper butterfly on his walk. When he got home he checked his butterfly book which informed him that Large Skippers are usually to be found perched on the tips of long grass at the intersection between long and short grass. This very specific habitat was exactly the environment in which he had spotted the butterfly, thus supporting his identification. He was very chuffed!

Both Bella the dog and the Skipper butterfly were behaving in ways true to type. This has made me very thoughtful about human behaviour and activity and especially for us as Christians. I wonder where people expect to see Christians and what behaviour/actions they may expect? I guess people expect to find Christians in a church, maybe on their knees in prayer or maybe with a placard on a street corner telling people their sins will find them out! They may have an expectation that Christians behave morally. Sadly, due to many horrific church based scandals which have come to light in past years, public expectation is pretty low.

I wonder how we might answer that question? To confuse things even more, different traditions in the Christian Church will answer the questions differently. Different traditions will have different emphases. For me, the key verse from the book of Micah informs our behaviour and habitat.

He has shown you what is good.

And what does the Lord require of you but to act justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God? Micah 6:8

I wonder how this verse might inspire our behaviour, choices or actions? Where might that verse take us in our praying, thinking and behaviour this week? As children of God, our speech, actions, choices and behaviours share DNA with Jesus, as those seeking to follow his mandate to ...

Bring good news to the poor, proclaim release to the captives
and recovery of sight to the blind, let the oppressed go free. Luke 4:18

We don't have to look very far to find Christians locally, nationally and internationally in places of need. Supporting Food Banks, refugee groups, showing loving care to families, prison visiting, being alongside the dying, working to combat climate change, visiting the lonely, campaigning for justice and peace etc.

Our habitat is this wonderful world God has created. Our DNA is linked to God, in whose image we are created. There are many things which can draw us away from God's pattern for us. The pattern of worship, prayer and fellowship is the way that DNA is embedded and temptations are resisted.

May we be encouraged in our worship, prayer and service in this coming week. Asking humbly, that we may bring justice and mercy.

Tessa
